Customer Reviews

I am so thankful to "our" Loving Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ for it is He who came to set the captives free. I cannot begin to express my gratitude to God first for His direction to Sister Rebecca Brown and Brother Daniel Yoder for the God-inspired writings of this book. And then to thank the writers for their obedience to God's direction. In the least, this book has been a blessing to me from the beginning of my reading. I realize I had a copy of this book in my home for at least 9 months after a friend referred this book to me. I am a reader and I buy a lot of christian reading material of which after reading the section on "ignorance" I will stop for awhile. My mother is 90 years old this year of 2000 use to tell us "that God will hold us responsible for the books we have in our possession" I now say it to my daughter and friends although not realizing the power of those words. When the Holy Spirit illuminated my mind about ignorance...well if you haven't read the book you will need to in order to understand the impact and change this statement has in my life and resulting yours. For all those that have read the book...they too will be careful to read the material in their homes, first the Holy Word of God, the Bible and then whatever the Lord has allowed them to possess. I have chosen to redefine ignorance as the lack of access to knowledge versus the lack of knowledge. "Unbroken Curses" in the very least is "a way out" and in the best of description uplifts the scripture "Jesus came to set the captives free". When people, good people have no explanation for the happenings in their lives...the answer lies in a unbroken curses.
